^Please refer to How to certify Documents for instructions on having the documents certified or Statutory Declaration witnessed by an authorised person.

Duty of Disclosure:

Before you enter into a contract of life insurance with an insurer, you have a duty, under the Insurance Contracts Act 1984, to disclose to the insurer every matter that you know, or could reasonably be expected to know, is relevant to the insurer's decision whether to accept the risk of the insurance and, if so, on what terms.

You have the same duty to disclose those matters to the insurer before you vary or reinstate a contract of life insurance.

Your duty however does not require disclosure of a matter:

- that diminishes the risk undertaken by the insurer;
- that is of common knowledge;
- that your insurer knows or, in the ordinary course of business, ought to know;
- as to which compliance with your duty is waived by the insurer.

If you fail to comply with your duty of disclosure and the insurer would not have entered into the contract on any terms if the failure had not occurred, the insurer may avoid the contract within three years of entering into it. If your non-disclosure is fraudulent, the insurer may avoid the contract at any time.

Alternatively, the insurer may vary the premium rates quoted. The insurer may, subject to the provision of written notice within three years of entering into the contract, elect not to cancel but to reduce the existing insured cover for members in accordance with a formula that takes into account the premium that would have been payable if all relevant matters had been disclosed.
